TEACHER/CHAPERONE

To travel is to learn. Stepping outside of your routine, your community or your culture for even a short time can refresh, energize and educate you in a way few other experiences offer. Teachers and administrators at all grade levels are welcome to apply. The High School exchange offers a 10-day hosting of a Japanese teacher in your own home followed by a 10-day stay in the home of a Japanese teacher -- this is a 20-day commitment.

You will chaperone a carefully selected delegation of four high school students, who participate in their own exchanges.

Orientation sessions scheduled as a group give the students and chaperones the chance to work as a team and to prepare for their shared experience. During the stay in Takasaki, chaperones have few logistical responsibilities, as all touring and travel arrangements within Japan are handed by Takasaki City staff, which include fluent English speakers.

The BCAIRC welcomes questions from any teacher or administrator who would like to know if the program is right for them.

DECIDING TO APPLY

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

When does the Exchange take place and how long does it take?

The exact dates vary each year, but typically include the last week of July and the first week of August. This years travel dates have been determined. Hosting dates for Takasaki delegates will be: July 23-Aug 2. Departure for Japan: Aug 2nd -- Return from Japan: Aug 13th. The schedule allows the delegation to attend the Takasaki Summer Festival, a day-long festival featuring ceremonies, a parade and ending with a fireworks display.

How much does it cost?

A general estimate is $500 to cover passport fees, gifts and hosting expenses. Chaperones stay with a host family. There are no lodging or food expenses while you are in Japan. The City of Takasaki arranges for transportation to and from Narita Airport (Tokyo) and various site seeing trips at no expense to the delegation. The Battle Creek Area International Relations Committee covers the cost of airfare. Expenses not covered include a passport fee, pocket money for souvenirs and the two travel days (to and from Japan), inexpensive gifts for the host family as well as optional activities you may choose to do with your host. While hosting, you will be asked to cover the food and inexpensive entertainment expenses for your guest - just as yours were covered in Japan. BCAIRC volunteers work with the exchange participants to establish a flexible and affordable hosting schedule. There are a few required activities, including a Mayor's Dinner and the International Summerfest. For adults this may be the most affordable experience available. We are happy to answer any questions on this topic.

Are there other, nonfinancial obligations?

Prior to leaving, chaperones must attend orientation sessions that will prepare them to be good guests in a Japanese home and to represent our community in the best manner. While in Japan, chaperones must participate in all exchange activities, and to be responsible for the delegation on travel days. Travel is typically a direct flight to Tokyo's Narita airport from Detroit. Experience with international customs procedures is helpful but not required.

Will my Japanese family speak English?

Japanese is the primary language in Japan. Typically, teachers who participate in the exchange are English teachers. This does not necessarily mean that they have extensive experience with American English, or with speaking English with native speakers with Midwestern accents. We have seen a range of English ability with adult guests from Takasaki, with the majority being very proficient. Most days in Japan, the delegation spends time together with representatives from the Takasaki International Relations Department. The department includes Japanese staff fluent in English, as well as a native English speaker, usually a recent college graduate, who speaks Japanese. Group activities in Japan always include an adult who speaks English fluently. Battle Creek chaperones are asked to be available to assist with communication needs, especially emergencies, while in Takasaki.

What are my responsibilities while I am traveling?

You have responsibility for the group on travel days. Once in Takasaki, your primary responsibility is to assist Takasaki International Relations Department staff with communication issues and emergencies. You are responsible for helping students with homesickness and problem solving. You are also responsible for addressing any behavioral issues that may occur. The BCAIRC carefully selects students. We seek students with a cooperative nature, who are recommended to be good travel companions. As with all children, the delegation may need occasional reminders about minding their manners.

Chaperones are expected to set an example by keeping an appreciative mind and open heart while in a foreign situation.

What are my responsibilities while hosting?

Just as your host covered your food and entertainment costs while in Japan, you are expected to do so when hosting here at home. Some group activities are supported by the BCAIRC. You will be actively involved in planning host and group activities prior to your guest arriving. More information is covered in the interview and orientation process.
